① The notice indicates the fiscal year for which the tax assessment has been revised.
※For fiscal years up to and including Reiwa 5 (2023), the Forest Environment Tax is not included.

② The reason for the current tax reassessment is stated in the notice.

③ The notice shows the amounts before and after the change for each collection method.
Annual Tax Amount: The total tax amount for the entire fiscal year is indicated.
Special Collection from Salary: The tax amount withheld from salary is indicated. Accordingly, no payment slip is enclosed.
Special Collection from Pension: The tax amount withheld from pension benefits is indicated. Accordingly, no payment slip is enclosed.

④ For those who have a Net Regular Collection Tax Amount in the relevant fiscal year, the payment amounts and due dates for each installment are listed.

⑤ For those who were subject to Special Collection from pension in the relevant fiscal year, the notice shows the tax amounts deducted from the pension received and the respective collection months.

⑥ For the relevant fiscal year, the tax amounts withheld from salary are shown on a monthly basis.
Regarding the monthly tax amounts, the “Amount Before Change” indicates the tax already withheld from salary, while the “Amount After Change” reflects the newly determined tax amount following this adjustment. For those who have overpaid taxes due to differences between the amounts before and after the change, a notification regarding refund procedures will be sent. In the case of the figure below, due to the difference between the amounts before and after the change, ¥8,700 for the March installment and ¥8,900 for each of the April and May installments are subject to refund or other adjustment.
